

Download

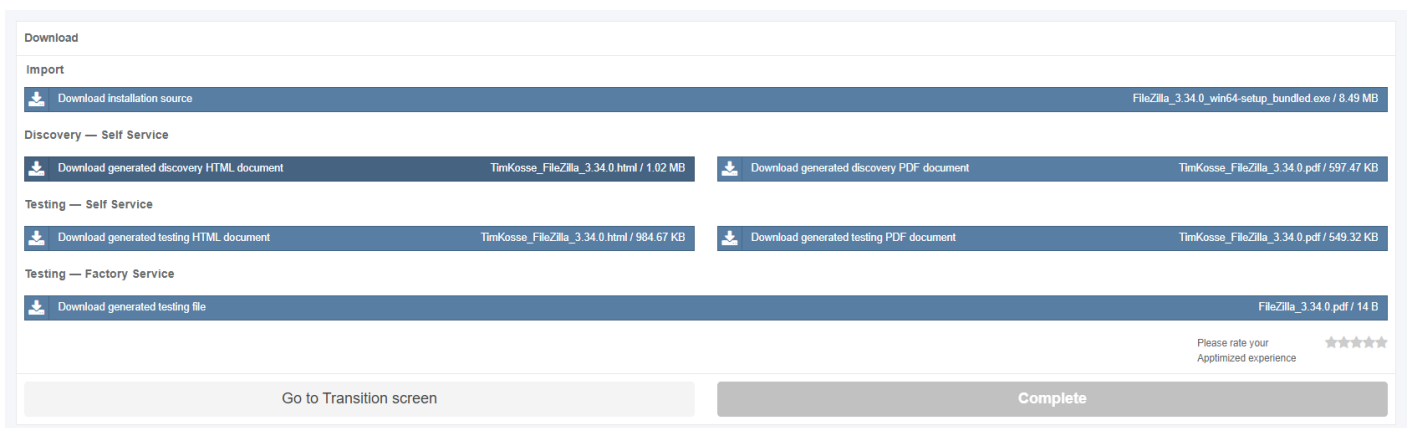

The download process starts by clicking the Download module on the Transition screen:

The set of documents to download depends on:

- the workflow structure (i.e., the number of steps, the set of module types) that was configured during project creation;
- the number of steps a user completed (a user can skip steps (for example, after importing the application user proceeds to the testing step). Thus, regardless of the workflow structure, the step may remain without results (generated documents), if the user skipped it.

The screenshot below shows the examples of possible download page configurations:

The option to download results is available under the Download installation source, or Download package, or Download generated [discovery/testing] HTML document, or Download generated [discovery/testing] PDF document buttons.
